Four-year terms:

Randy Johnson: Randy, a retired fish farmer, wishes to “give back” to the conservation district, as it provided valuable support with early redevelopment and management practices of his farm, Glacier Springs Trout Farm. Randy has a rich history in conservation, studying fisheries biology for his undergrad and fisheries biology and aquatic ecology for his masters at Michigan State University. He and his wife, Bonnie, volunteered through the US Peace Corps in the Philippines in a fisheries program during the mid-70s. Randy says “I feel that I have the time and insight to be a contributing member of the board.”

Mary has lived in Antrim County for 6 years, and has 25+ years of experience with tech companies, filling multiple roles in organizational design and development, sales, operations, and consulting.
